

public art - what's that all about then?

Many of us are passionate about the arts. For some of us the arts are something we enjoy occasionally with friends and family. Some people don't think they're interested in the arts, but go to the cinema, listen to music and read books.

What do the arts mean to you?

We're planning for the future of public spending on the arts and want you to have your say, so...

get involved artsdebate.co.uk

sixty years
celebrating
the arts

classical, death metal, or hip hop - what's the score?

Many of us are passionate about the arts. For some of us the arts are something we enjoy occasionally with friends and family. Some people don't think they're interested in the arts, but go to gigs, listen to music and read books.

What do the arts mean to you?

We're planning for the future of public spending on the arts and want you to have your say, so...

get involved artsdebate.co.uk

sixty years
celebrating
the arts

modern art - lifeless or life enhancing?

Many of us are passionate about the arts. For some of us the arts are something we enjoy occasionally with friends and family. Some people don't think they're interested in the arts, but go to the cinema, listen to music and read books.

What do the arts mean to you?

We're planning for the future of public spending on the arts and want you to have your say, so...

get involved artsdebate.co.uk

sixty years
celebrating
the arts

theatre - just for luvvies or a good night out?

Many of us are passionate about the arts. For some of us the arts are something we enjoy occasionally with friends and family. Some people don't think they're interested in the arts, but go to the panto, listen to music and read books.

What do the arts mean to you?

We're planning for the future of public spending on the arts and want you to have your say, so...

get involved artsdebate.co.uk

sixty years
celebrating
the arts

ballet, belly, contemporary and tap - we're asking, you dancing?

Many of us are passionate about the arts. For some of us the arts are something we enjoy occasionally with friends and family. Some people don't think they're interested in the arts, but watch 'Strictly Ballroom', listen to music and read books.

What do the arts mean to you?

We're planning for the future of public spending on the arts and want you to have your say, so...

get involved artsdebate.co.uk

sixty years
celebrating
the arts

