Section one – introduction

Welcome

Thank you for your interest in Celebrating Age: Arts and Cultural Organisations Leading Change (round two).

The Celebrating Age programme is jointly funded by Arts Council England and the Baring Foundation and supports the shared objectives of both organisations.

The programme will support cultural spaces and other organisations working collaboratively, in a partnership or as a consortium, to do one or more of the following:

1. Support arts and cultural spaces to be open, positive and welcoming places for older people

This could involve:

- empowering older people to help shape what's on offer or lead quality activities
 - embedding proven approaches to engaging older people as visitors, audiences, or participants in creative processes, e.g. ambassadors or buddying schemes
 - testing and applying new ways to engage older people
 - commissioning older artists or art that has particular relevance/resonance
 - showcasing or curating and celebrating art created by and with older people
2. Taking arts and culture into places where older people will find it easier to engage

This could involve:

- residential care settings or sheltered accommodation
- libraries
- social and community settings, e.g. luncheon clubs

About Arts Council England

Arts Council England champions, develops and invests in artistic and cultural experiences that enrich people's lives. We support a range of activities across the arts, museums and libraries – from theatre to digital art, reading to dance, music to literature, and crafts to collections.

Great art and culture inspires us, brings us together and teaches us about ourselves and the world around us. In short, it makes life better. Between 2015 and 2018, we plan to invest £1.1 billion of public money from government and an estimated £700 million from the National Lottery to help create these experiences for as many people as possible across the country.

About Arts Council England's strategic funds 2015-18

Our Strategic funds help us to target particular challenges, opportunities or gaps, creating the environment for further development to take place in the arts and culture sector. Ultimately, they help us meet the goals set out in our strategy, Great art and culture for everyone. Our goals, for reference, are as follows:

Goal 1: Excellence is thriving and celebrated in the arts, museums and libraries

Goal 2: Everyone has the opportunity to experience and be inspired by the arts, museums and libraries

Goal 3: The arts, museums and libraries are resilient and environmentally sustainable

Goal 4: The leadership and workforce in the arts, museums and libraries are diverse and appropriately skilled

Goal 5: Every child and young person has the opportunity to experience the richness of the arts, museums and libraries

All of these goals are important, but the Celebrating Age programme will prioritise applications that respond to Goal 1 and Goal 2.

About the Baring Foundation

The Baring Foundation was set up in 1969 to give money to charities and voluntary organisations pursuing charitable purposes. The Foundation aims to improve the quality of life or people suffering disadvantage and discrimination by making grants available to strengthen voluntary sector organisations which serve them directly or indirectly.

Since 2010 the Foundation has focused its funding on the arts on the unique role that the arts can play in the lives of older people, especially through their direct participation in creating and presenting artistic work.

Section two – purpose of Celebrating Age: Arts and Cultural Organisations Leading Change (round two)

Aims and outcomes

Background

Arts Council England is committed to supporting everyone to access great arts and culture. The Taking Part survey currently shows a dramatic drop off in engagement levels for arts, galleries and museums activity from age 75 plus. This programme will help us to achieve our mission and to enrich arts and culture for everyone.

The aspiration for excellence is central to the activity we will support – this covers both excellence of art and excellence of the process of engaging with older people.

We believe that cultural spaces can provide havens for older people, carers and families, and that they can also act as hubs for outreach activity that can re-engage isolated older people.

Public funding of arts and culture should be invested for the benefit of everyone and it should offer opportunity and draw on all talents irrespective of age. We are proud of the activity that is currently led by artists, arts organisations and museums and we are convinced that there is potential to do more. We know that cultural spaces can make a significant difference to the lives of older people in their communities. This programme will help to ensure that age is not a barrier to accessing Arts Council funded activities.

The central aims of this fund will support cultural spaces and other organisations working collaboratively, in partnership or as a consortia, to do one or more of the following:

- more older people engaging with cultural spaces and organisations
- more cross generational activity and opportunities to engage
- helping people to engage for the first time
- helping people to maintain engagement into older age
- ongoing relationships with older people – through sustainable high quality artistic, outreach, engagement or audience development activities

- more examples of older people helping to shape and/or lead the local arts offer and activities available
- supporting older people as volunteers to lead arts and cultural activities in their area
- supporting older people to engage with the amateur and voluntary sector to encourage participation
- more cultural spaces and organisations play an active role in addressing social isolation for older people
- new opportunities for older people to engage with their local cultural spaces and in high quality arts, creativity and culture more generally
- new skills and knowledge for organisations and artists involved
- new or stronger partnerships across cultural spaces and with specialist artists and cultural organisations
- new partnerships with non-arts specialists who already engage with or represent older people
- local and national opportunities which celebrate the positive role that arts and culture can play by engaging older people in their communities, e.g. covering in national press and media

How much funding is available?

The total budget available for this fund is £3 million. A total budget of £1.5 million is available for round two.

Awards will be between £50,000 - £100,000. We would hope to award between 30 to 35 grants of up to £100,000 across both rounds.

We anticipate a high level of demand for this funding, and that the application process will be very competitive. We may not be able to fund all strong applications and we therefore recommend that you consider implementing a contingency plan should you not be successful.

We will accept applications for funding from organisations working as a consortium. One organisation must act as the lead organisation and submit the application.

We are looking for proposals from an arts organisation or a museum to lead a programme of activities in partnership with other cultural organisations. We are also interested in cultural venues and cultural organisations working with non-arts partners that represent older people. You will be expected to include at least one partner that represents older people at application stage; this partner could be a creative or non-arts organisation.

The lead applicant must be Arts Council funded or presenting work to the public funded through a National Portfolio Organisation, Major Partner Museum, Creative People and Places, or Museum resilience fund at the point of application. This is because a key aim of this fund is to ensure that more Arts Council England funded work is accessible to everyone, irrespective of age.

Activity can last up to three years, including a six month planning stage once the grant is agreed. This planning period can be used to confirm the partner organisations and their role in the delivery of the activity.

Geographical focus of the fund

The geographical focus is designed to support the Arts Council's intent to ensure that a minimum of 75 per cent of our Lottery funding is spent outside London. For this particular fund, we expect around 85 per cent of the fund will be committed outside London. We anticipate allocating in the region of 15 per cent of this fund to organisations based in London.

Consortia and partnership agreements

We will accept applications for funding from organisations working as a consortium. One organisation must act as the lead organisation and submit the application.

All partners within the consortium must show a firm commitment to joint working. Your application must show the benefits and rationale of working as a consortium.

If we decide to fund your project we will enter into a legally binding grant agreement with the lead organisation. This organisation must accept our terms and conditions of grant and will be solely accountable to us for all monitoring information, how all the money is spent and for the full and successful delivery of the project.

One of our standard terms and conditions of grant is that the organisation we enter into a grant agreement with cannot subcontract any of the project to other organisations without our prior agreement in writing. So if we award a grant, before the project can start, we must approve a partnership agreement between the lead organisation and the other partners involved in the project.

There is further guidance about Partnership agreements on our website.

Section four – what you will be expected to deliver

We welcome applications that will make a contribution to achieving the aims and outcomes outlined in Section two above.

We are particularly interested in supporting proposals that celebrate ageing and/or celebrate positive images of older people.

- Proposals where the involvement of older people in decision processes is embedded.
- Proposals which involve specialist arts organisations and artists with a high quality, strong track record of engaging older people.
- Proposals that work with a non-arts partner representing older people.
- Supporting cultural spaces and organisations to reach out to older people who are not currently engaging regularly, or are isolated in their communities.
- Proposals that set out to develop ongoing, lasting relationships with people. The potential for sustainable approaches is key.
- Activity that includes plans to reach those over 75 – while recognising that in order to do this, activity may well include people who are younger. The majority of your activity will be aimed at benefiting people over 55.
- Proposals that show the proposed activity will draw on learning from other sectors or places.

Each grant recipient will be expected to build in capacity to evaluate impact. Grant recipients will be encouraged to self-audit against an agreed framework to assess their age friendliness before and after the activity supported by the grant.

Grant recipients will also be asked to write a public facing version of their final report and to describe the impact of their activity and lessons learned.

- Met
The application meets the criteria
- Met (strong)
The application meets the criteria and shows strong qualities
- Met (outstanding)
The application meets the criteria and shows outstanding qualities

On the basis of these ratings we will recommend whether an application is suitable for funding. Applications that do not achieve at least 'met' under all three criteria will not be recommended for funding.

We will assess each application against the following criteria, using the assessment prompts below:

Criteria

Meeting the brief

Character count: up to 20,000 characters

Weighting: 50 per cent

- Please tell us how your application will deliver on the fund's aims and outcomes and all the elements of what you will be expected to deliver, as described in this brief
- Appropriate named partners, at this stage, with clear roles and responsibilities, including a partner representing older people
- Activity that builds on and does not duplicate activity funded by other Arts Council grants
- Clear evaluation plans that evaluate impact
- Plans to ensure lasting legacy of the activity
- Plans to show how the learning from this activity will be shared

Management of the activity

Character count: up to 10,000 characters

Weighting: 25 per cent

- Feasibility of workplan
- Demonstration of skill and capacity to deliver the proposed programme
- Strong strategic fit with the applicant's other activity
- Appropriate governance arrangements in place and/or planned, including how partners are engaged

Financial viability

Character count: up to 10,000 characters

Weighting: 25 per cent

- Financial viability of the applicant and of the project
- Demonstration of appropriateness of proposed budget
- Robust plans for resourcing the activity effectively
- Evidence of organisational buy-in by applicant and project partners, as cash investment and/or in-kind support
- Clear case for any proposed capital expenditure

In identifying the right mix of successful proposals to ensure the greatest opportunities for learning across the arts and cultural sector, we will also consider these balancing criteria. We are particularly interested in:

- The kinds of communities involved and target audiences/participants
- The range of artforms involved
- Supporting high quality activity that will have impact across people defined within protected characteristics, with a focus on profiles where evidence suggests that engagement levels are significantly lower than the general population, namely: socio-economic background, disability, life limiting illness and ethnicity

As we are looking to support a mix of approaches and ambitions, we will also be looking to balance successful applications across the following criteria which includes:

- Social impact, e.g. tackling loneliness and isolation
- Artistic outcomes, e.g. celebrating/showcasing the arts and creativity of older people
- Partnerships with non arts agencies working with older people
- New finance/business models that support sustainable approaches
- Use of technologies to enhance reach and quality of experience
- Outreach activity, e.g. in care homes or engaging homebound people
- Rural and urban contexts
- The potential to change attitudes and raise public awareness of the achievements and potential of older people, for instance:
 - Through the scale and nature of the activity or partners involved
 - through local or national campaigns or media coverage

These balancing criteria will be used in addition to the main criteria to ensure a good spread of funded projects according to each balancing criterion, and to differentiate between a number of proposals that are considered strong.

Decision making

Once we have scored your application and a recommendation has been made whether to fund it, we will make our decision. To do this we will consider how strongly your activity scored against our criteria, any balancing criteria we have outlined above, and will also consider your activity alongside other applications to the fund.

Complaints procedure

If you are not happy with the way we have dealt with your application, please contact us and we will discuss this with you. If you are still unhappy, you can ask us for a copy of our complaints procedure.

Details can be found in Making a complaint, which is available on our website, www.artscouncil.org.uk, or by contacting our enquiries team by email to enquiries@artscouncil.org.uk or by phoning 0845 300 6200.

Please note that you can only complain if you believe we have not followed our published procedures when assessing your application. You cannot appeal against the decision.

Section seven – Freedom of Information Act

The Arts Council is committed to being as open as possible. We believe that the public has a right to know how we spend public funds and how we make our funding decisions.

We are also listed as a public authority under the Freedom of Information Act 2000. By law, we may have to provide your application documents and information about our assessment to any member of the public who asks for them under the Freedom of Information Act 2000.
