What's Inside

This information sheet provides additional information for your Arts Council England's National Lottery Project Grants application.

Make sure that you have also read the main Guidance for applicants. See our website for more information about Project Grants.

In this information sheet, we will talk about the following:

International activity

You can apply to National Lottery Project Grants for projects that take place outside of England.

As the development body for creativity and culture in England, we define international activity as activity taking place outside of England. This includes any activity taking place in the wider UK; Wales, Scotland, Northern Ireland.

We can only fund activities or events taking place outside of England where you can demonstrate longer-term benefit to individuals and communities within England.

We can only accept applications from individuals or organisations based (living) in England or the wider United Kingdom (UK). You must also have a UK bank account. We cannot pay into bank accounts based outside of the UK.

What you can apply for

We can consider supporting:

- Research to develop new ideas, work or programmes for international collaborations, tours and exchanges
- Opportunities for creative and cultural practitioners and/or arts and cultural organisations based in England to attend international training courses, networking events or conferences
- Overseas residencies for creatives in England
- Exchanges between creative and cultural practitioners and/or arts and cultural organisations based in England and international partners
- International research and development of a project intended for production in England
- Trans-national collaborations between practitioners and organisations in England and overseas
- Touring work created in England to international locations

- Touring international work into venues and festivals in England. See our 'Touring: developing a project' information sheet under the Types of project section of the Guidance Library.
- Using international market development opportunities (for example: taking work made in England to international 'showcases') to generate international bookings, collaborations and co-commissions.

International costs we can support

There are costs specific to international work that can be included in your project budget.

Examples of costs we can consider supporting are:

- Work permits and visas
The costs involved in securing necessary work permits and/or visas for creative practitioners working abroad. UK Arts Information Point and the Government website offer details country by country
- ATA carnets
You can buy a Temporary Admission (ATA) Carnet and use it to; temporarily export goods for use outside the UK, claim relief under temporary admission on goods that you import for temporary use into the UK or cover transit of goods through certain countries on route to countries where you'll use them temporarily. The Government website has more information on this
- Haulage and freight charges
Moving, packing and transporting equipment and/or objects associated with your international activity, including use of freight agent to manage customs/carnets
- Insurance
The costs of insuring people, objects and equipment when working internationally
- Contingencies
Unforeseen costs and circumstances (cancelled dates, postponements, transitioning from physical to digital presentation)

- Per diems
Daily living costs for the people on tour
- Contributions towards more environmentally responsible touring
A longer timeline for a tour to allow for slower travel (for example, travelling by train rather than plane)
- Courier costs
Transportation of artworks and/or objects that need to be accompanied by a Courier or Curator
- Legal advice
Advice on licencing, VAT and/or Intellectual Property laws where these are relevant to your activity
- Travel and accommodation

International costs we cannot support

If you choose to travel against the advice of the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) we cannot support costs you may incur. If you are awarded a grant and travel restrictions change whilst you are abroad, we cannot increase the value of the award to meet additional costs.

Edinburgh International and Fringe Festivals

We don't normally directly fund applications that include taking work to the Edinburgh International or Fringe Festivals.

Only if you're applying to the Touring projects strand (Regional, National, International) can you include Edinburgh dates within a tour schedule. They can form part of a wider tour, but they can't make up the majority of dates.

Although we're not able to fund projects that focus on taking work to the Edinburgh Festivals, we are committed to increasing opportunities for international exchange and market development for creative practitioners and arts and cultural organisations based in England. We have supported Horizon Performing Arts Showcase for England-based individuals and organisations to present work including theatre, dance, circus and live art, within the Edinburgh Festival Fringe.

Our wider approach to international working

'International' is one of the five themes of our 2021-24 Delivery Plan. For information about our wider approach to international working, including information on a range of other international activity we are supporting, you can read the Delivery Plan on our website.

Further information

We recommend you check the travel advice provided by the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office (FCDO) before going overseas, on their website. It is your responsibility to ensure that anyone participating in your project abroad is made aware of any relevant FCDO guidance prior to the agreement of contracts.

EUCLID provides advice and guidance to artists and organisations on developing projects and applications for EU funding.

The British Council is the UK's international organisation for educational opportunities and cultural relations. It supports UK artists to travel overseas and give performances or collaborate with artists from other countries to promote better understanding between the UK and other countries. It also runs arts programmes in support of development agendas, education and the creative industries.

Arts Infopoint UK is a pilot initiative to support the arts sector with information on practical issues relating to artist mobility.
